HOW TO READ A TIME TABLE

It really isn't so complicated to read a time table!
 Some of the important things to remember are:

- TOWNS AND CITIES—Each table shows them in the order served. A heart-shaped symbol on certain lines indicates that agency or terminal facilities are available.
- TABLES READ UP OR DOWN—Whereas many tables simply list points served along the left-hand edge, some tables show towns and cities in a centre column. To assist our patrons to read the left-hand and right-hand time columns, the table is suitably marked "READ DOWN" or "READ UP". As a further reminder, arrows are usually located throughout the columns.
- FINDING PROPER TABLE—Don't be confused by the mass of printing for a whole table on a route with which you are unfamiliar. For example, if you are located on the Toronto-North Bay route and you want to look up the time table of the service between Toronto and St. Catharines, then locate the correct table (#2667) and simply concentrate on reading the column headings and the times of operation between those two points. A map diagram is shown on the back cover indicating the table numbers where the communities are listed.
- REFERENCE MARKS—While these marks first appear difficult, a complete explanation is shown above to clarify the meanings of various symbols and letters. Some abbreviations are shown beside a time table when an important detail refers to that particular service. Failure to heed reference marks could result in missed connections and travel delays.
- THROUGH BUS SERVICES—Special coach pooling arrangements are made between bus companies to permit each other's buses to operate directly to major cities in each other's territory. This method reduces the transferring from one bus to another at otherwise "connection" points. It also results in certain trips being operated with coaches owned by another company.
